The pool is a key feature of Ealing Village life and part of the reason why a number of us chose to come and live here. It was designed in the 1930s and is one of the last private lidos in London. However, because it was designed in a very different era and we try strike the right balance between enjoyment and risk. To help us identify any particular risk factors that may relate to your use of the pool and its surrounding areas please complete the following questions
